KILLED WITH A BROOM-HANDLE

AN ITALIAN STREET-SWEEPER FATALLY BEATEN IN A QUARREL IN BROOKLYN.

Luigi Bartolomeo, an Italian, thirty years old, who lives at No. 45 Front-st., Brooklyn, and is employed as a street-sweeper in that city, was killed in a street fight yesterday by Michael Mulvihill.

The affair grew out of a quarrel between Bartolo-meo and Morris Wren, nineteen years old, who lives at No. 366 Bond.st., Brooklyn. Wren is employed as a driver by Dunne & McGarry, and he was in charge of his eart at Sixth-ave, and St. Mark's Place, about 420 h. m. vesterday, when the transfer Place, about 4:30 p. m. yesterday, when the trouble between him and Bartolomeo started. The Italian, it is alleged, attacked Wren, after they had had me angry words. Mulvihill, who is a friend of Wren, happened to be present, and interfered to defend him, according to his own account. He says that the Italian then attacked him, and that he merely defended himself. He struck Bartolomeo with a broom-handle, and knocked him down.

Wren and Mulvihill afterward got into the dirtcart, leaving the Italian on the ground, and drove to the stables of Dunne & McGarry, in Butlerst., near Fifth-ave. They then made good their escape. Meanwhile an ambulance had been summoned for Bartolomeo, but he died before it arrived. His body was taken to the Tenth Precinct Police Station, and a general alarm for Wren and Mulvibill was sent out. Detective Farrell of the Mulvibill was sent out. Detective Parten of the Tenth Precinct Station caught the latter in Richards-st., near Hamilton-ave. Wren was also taken into custody while on his way to this city on a Hamilton Ferry boat. Mulvibill is twenty-four years old, and lives at No. 246 Bond-st., Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN'S DOG SHOW ENDED.

A FIGHT BETWEEN TWO BULL TERRIERS MARKED THE LAST DAY OF THE EXHIBITION.

The Metropolitan Kennel Club's Dog Show, as the old 13th Regiment Armory, Flatbush-ave, and Hanson Place, Brooklyn, came to a close last The attendance during the day was large, and in the evening the hall was packed. Dr. H. T. Foote, the president of the club, said last night that the show had been a financial success.

The only unfortunate feature of the show was the escape of a valuable Gordon setter, which got away on Tuesday and has not been found. Yesterday considerable excitement was caused at the show by a fierce fight between two thoroughbred bull terriers, Captain Gully and Dollaston Duke, owned by W. Fred Church, of Boston. The dogs' chains were just long enough to allow them to get their heads out beyond the wire screens. has been bad blood between the dogs for a few days, and when Captain Gully poked his nose out of his stall and sniffed at Dollaston Duke yesterday, the Duke saw a good chance, and snapped at the Captain. The latter was on his guard, however, and the dogs locked teeth. The choke them into releasing their hold, but without avail. They finally tried throwing a bucket of cold water over the beasts, and this had the desired effect. Both dogs were hadly bitten about the head.

OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN'S LAWSUITS.

A number of the creditors of Oscar Hammerstein met yesterday to consider a proposition for the complete and simultaneous settlement of all judgments hitherto obtained and suits now pending against The meeting was held at the office of Mr. Mutual Life Building. Judgments already obtained to the amount of about $24,000 were represented. Mr. Hammerstein wishes to come to some arrangement whereby these and all suits now pending can be settled at once. He thinks that this ought to be done for a sum not much exceeding $42,000. Mr. Hammerstein surprised some of the creditors and claimants by showing that, beyond the property which he transferred a few weeks ago to his wife and sons, he had a considerable amount remaining in his own name. After the subject had been discussed the meeting was adjourned, in order to give the creditors time to consider it further and arrange their course of action among themselves. Mr. Hammerstein declares that he wishes to pay everything that he honestly owes, and is abundantly able to do so. But he wants to be rid of the trouble of a great number of lawsuits, and he wishes those who have suits and judgments to come to an understanding about them, so that he can settle them equitably, all at once, and have the whole mass of them ended and done with.

THE MEMPHIS POSTMASTER'S SHORTAGE. Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 27.-Details of the shortage of Postmaster R. B. Armour came out to-day. The exact amount of the deficit was $12,223.88, which was paid over to Assistant Postmaster Harris on No-vember 18. After the publication of the shortage throughout the country Chief Inspector Little came here and found the facts to be as stated. The mat-ter has been called to the attention of the District-Attorney. The previous shortage of Armour oc-curred last February, amounting to $5,199. Armour declines to discuss the subject, and District-At-torney Simonton declines to state what course the

The lecturer said: To fifty understand the art of the old masters we must turn back four centuries. The painter lived in a greater art epoch than ours, he was artistically better suited to his time, he thought more simply and more independently than the artist of to-day. The ancient master was more a beauty-lover than the modern man; above all, he worshipped beauty less in a process and more in a result. In the Renaissance we have the only hisrical instance of the complete evolution of a pictoprime to its decay.

Mr. Blashfield rooke of the simplicity of the interior room furnishing and decoration of that time, compared with the present method of placing countriess withs of art in one intree halt. Then they decorated the waits and ceiling, afterward arranging the furniture in harmony, now people hang many platures on the waits that give a kateletoscope effect.

Tooday in America, the speaker continued, architects have just set up on the pathway of American art what is destined to become civic and National. We can hardly thank them chough for it. But a short time ago a fittle group of architects set up in the Court of Honer at the World's Fair a cremendous object-lesson, and from it we may account the beginning of American Renaissance. In bringing millions face to face with these great examples at the Fair they domesticated the genus of art, they have taught us a lesson which says. We must study the past, but also we must work in the present and by ourselves. A Renaissance has always come from the contemplation of the good that has gone before. As the contemplation of the good that has gone before. As the contemplation of the good that has gone before. As the contemplation of the good that has gone before the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before as the contemplation of the good that has gone before ast

A RECEPTION FOR PILLSBURY,

A recordion will be given for Harry N. Pillsbury this evening by the City Chess Club at its rooms, at Second-ave, and Ninth-st., to which all lovers of chess are invited. Pillsbury will play against two of the City Chess Club's crack players in consultation—Charles Nugent, whose efforts in ba-half of the City Club made it a winner over the Manhattan Chess Club in the Metropolitan League matches, and Otto Roething, the winner of the last general tournament of the New-York State Chess Association.

It is the intention of Pilisbury to give his services toward the upbuilding of chess in the metropoli-tan district in a practical way, and on next Satur-day he is to play simultaneous chess in Brook-lyn, and the following week at the Metropolitan Chess Club.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR A PROTECTORY.

THE LADIES' DEBORAH NURSERY IN FINANCIAL DIFFICULTIES-ITS CITY ALLOW-ANCES HELD UP.

Judge Smyth, of the Supreme Court, has appointed Solomon I. Kaye temporary receiver for the Ladies' Deborah Nursery and Child's Protectory, at Eagle-ave, and One-hundred-and-sixty-first-st., on the application of Goldfogle, Cohn & Lind, representing the directors of the institution. Mr. Kaye is the president and his appointment was requested by the direct-ors. His bond was fixed at $50,000.

The principal business of the Protectory is the maintenance, education and care of children committed to its care. For this it received a per capita allowance from the city, but for the last seven months the Controller has refused to pay the corporation on the grounds that certain requirements of the State Board of Charities have not been compiled with The corporation owns some real estate which is unproductive of revenue and is encumbered by mortno ready money at hand with which to pay for the services of the nurses and attendants at the institution, or to pay for food and clothing for the in-mates. Liabilities for food, clothing and other necesaries have accumulated, and suits are pending, which will shortly come on for trial. It is said to be impossible at the present time to obtain further financial aid, but it is the belief of the managers that if the assets are now marshalled under the supervision of the court it will result more beneficially to all credit-assets are now marginance assets are solvent in court it will result more beneficially to all creditors than if the corporation continues.

The liabilities are $44,400, of which $25,904 are secured by mortgages. The nominal assets are $48,75, consisting of real estate at Eagle-ave, and One-hundred-and-sixty-first-st., which cost $3,975, amount due from the city, $10,429, furniture, $590, and cash, $51, The liabilities secured by mortgage are, the Citizens' Savings Bank, $17,500, Van Buren, estate, $5,000. Mechanics and Traders Bank, $3,394, and Henry Oxford, $1,100. Other creditors are Herschman & Bleler, $1,300, Austin Nichols & Co., $3,417. M. Freeman & Sons, $2,388 (contested): Morris & Deubensky, $1,550; George W. Store, $1,000 (contested): Paul G. Decker, $1400 (contested): Frank G. Sauvan, $200. There is a branch of the home at One-hundred-and-forty-directs-st and Forest-ave, which it leases. The corporation was formed in 1878 and of late has cared for about four hundred children.

Harry Hackes, a member of the clothing firm of mitted suicide in Central Park yesterday morning at 8 o'clock by shooting himself in the right temple, and died later in the Presbyterian Hospital. Park Policeman Sweeney was on duty at the time and heard the shot fired. He hastened at once in the direction from which the sound had once in the direction from which the sound had come, and discovered Hackes lying on the ground with the revolver by his side.

Hackes lived at No. 1% East Seventy-ninth-st. The dead man was about forty-five years old, and leaves a widow and two small children. A representative of the firm who called at the Arsenai yesterday morning expressed great surprise at Hackes's not. The only reason he could ascribe was that Hackes had been in poor health. He had no business troubles, it was said. Mrs. Hackes said that she and her husband had always lived happily together.

Martin J. Lippman, Mr. Hackes's partner, said last night. "I state positively there were no business troubles, but that insomnia and hervous last night. "I state positively there were no business troubles, but that insomnta and nervous troubles caused the rash act, and that the business of the firm is in no wise affected by the unfortunate death of my partner."

In addition, Mr Lippman said he had a letter from Mr Hackes, found on the dead man's clothing. It was dated at the Grand Hotel, and was written yesterday morning. It read:

"Dear Martin: I could not help it. No sleep for me in this world. Goodby, you good fellow. I know you will look out for Sarah's interests." "HARRY."

date Braun accused John Allen, a seaman, of talk-ing about him. Allen denied the charge, whereupon Braun drew a kuffe and stabbed him in the left arm. Allen says his arm kept the kuffe from penetrating the heart.

Braun was arraigned before Commissioner Shields in the afternoon and held in $2,500 bail for examination on Monday.

STABBED ON THE HIGH SEAS.

The harbor police boat Patrol was yesterday morning called over to the full-rigged ship St. John, which arrived on Thursday night, to a laden, from San Francisco. Captain O. H. Files of the St. John turned one of his sailors, Karl Braun, whom he had kept in irons since September 8, over to Sergeant Woods, of the Patrol, for stabbing a sailor on board ship. On that date Braun accused John Allen, a seaman, of talking about him. Allen dented the charge, whereupon Braun drew a knife and stabbed him in the left arm. Allen says his arm kept the knife from penetrating the neart.
